UNION, POLICE AT W. WARWICK IN PEACE PACT

West Warwick, R. I., March 4 (AP)—Union representatives and police, after an all-morning conference, reached an agreement today on picketing at the strike-affected plant of the Western Electric Co. in this town.

Frank J. Best, vice-president of the Federation of Labor Unions and Branches, which called the strike in January, said after the conference:

"We have made some headway, but we're not satisfied." Picketing, it was agreed, could be in line displaying union emblems, but only with only union workers in the picket line.

Workers' demands are for a 66-cent minimum hourly wage. The old minimum was 45 cents, but the new minimum was 45 cents, but the new minimum was 45 cents.

Two men were overcome by fear, and one was killed. The strike was called off by the police.

While the effort attempted to end the riot, the police were unable to prevent the riot from continuing.

'Screwy' Label Boils Hot Blood Of Tommy to White Duelling Heat

ALICE WALLACE
She started it all. When Marty May said he was going to wed her, and was quoted as calling Tommy Manville "screwy," the assistant hostess turned...

Manville Invites 'Rival' To Night Club Battle For Slight

New York, March 4.—The last blow of the great old Manville line failed over today, and Tommy wants to fight a duel, again.

The governing spirit of the day, however, is a war in May, when he is going to marry Tommy, a girl friend, politician, and actress Wallace.

But the descendant of Manville—his grand—is not sure about that. What has him re-echoed is the fact that Marty was quoted as calling him, Tommy (Slightly) Manville, "screwy."

And just to show he meant business, Tommy is willing to meet Marty at any high light in town, happy, happy, happy, happy!

Tommy found down the page in the paper.

"I demand an apology for being called 'screwy' I never saw May in my life, but if I am not given satisfaction I shall challenge him to a duel in any night club in any part of town with any weapon he may choose."

"I may even ask Mayor LaGuardia to act as second. The thing should be done right."

Then Tommy explained why he objected to being called "screwy." "I object to being called 'screwy,' he said, "because the term is intolerable."

"If May wants her he can have her. Nobody ever took a woman from me in my life. I've known plenty and thrown them aside, some of them manage to marry some very nice boys."

"They must have been crazy to make such statements about me being thrown over after I begged Alice to go with me in the French Riviera. Crazy, or else it's a publicity gag. They're both looking for stage jobs."

"Any guy that gets married is a block head."

Manville has had four wives.

TOMMY MANVILLE
The two-gun squire lathers his jaws, threatening to lather Marty May, if and when a date can be arranged. Any weapons, says Manville.

BEAR Coronation RAIN

MAY 12 SHOWS WET RECORD

London, March 4 (AP)—The threat of rain, with its attendant possibility of financial loss, plagued Great Britain today as it cast a collective eye at the weather for Coronation Day—even though it is more than two months away.

Everyone from King George VI down to his lowliest subject who will fight for a glimpse of the procession was hoping against hope that May 12 would be dry.

But, just dying out after the winter in years even for England—they didn't really have much hope, and an average Englishman, at a glimpse at the weather on May 12 for the past 25 years, passed along this tip to America:

"If you are coming to the coronation, don't forget your raincoat, overcoat and umbrella."

A mild (which means wet) winter ever here promises a late and rainy spring. Even weather bureau officials whose job it is to reassure hotel keepers, merchants and all the rest who expect to make a profit from coronation week could bring only cold comfort.

See Showers
The look at the record for 25 years showed that while there had been only one day without some sunshine, it rained on the 25, making it only a little better than, even money it will rain on the day King George and Queen Elizabeth are crowned—if you want to bet on English weather.

Adding to their woes, Englishmen found the average amount of sunshine for May 12 was less than the average for any one of the 25 years of May.

Even if it does rain, it may not last long. The English think of a day when it rains and the spring months are especially variable. The standard weather forecast, issued a real English rain is expected to:

"Bright periods with showers."

COURT PLAN WIN FORECAST BY SENATOR

McCARRON HERE FOR SPEECH

Men 65 years and above and youth until the age of maturity should be kept out of gainful competitive employment, United States Senator Patrick McCarron of Nevada today declared.

Senator McCarron, guest speaker at the big Roosevelt victory dinner at the Hotel Statler tonight, proposed that the country be used to reduce the Democratic national debt, spiked reports he would, during the President's proposal for an augmented Supreme Court.

"I shall speak on no controversial subject," the Senator said. "My address will be confined to facts relating to the real victory of the Democratic party."

Pressed for an opinion as to how the country was progressing, the Senator said with a smile:

Sees Victory
"Taking the law of averages and applying it to President Roosevelt, we scarcely expect him to lose."

With the Senator were Congressman Jerry J. O'Connell of Montana and Congressman Edward V. Levy and Jerry Voorhis of California. The Senator arrived in Cambridge, New Bedford and other cities of the state.

"But I am going to discuss tonight why we should rejoice," said Senator McCarron. "Not because we received an avalanche of votes but because the achievements of the government have brought to the hearts and homes of the people."

"What do you think of the all-out strikes?" the Senator was asked.

"It seems to me that is a matter for labor to decide," he answered. "The strike is labor's weapon and the use of it is theirs so long as they remain within the law."

It seems the question of whether we are now on the verge of a new era. The hope is that the coming of this will be a meeting of the minds of the employer and the employee.

"We must work to give the laborer of the country a spirit of contentment. The labor must be regarded more as an integral part of industry, indispensable to success. The life of the laborer must be as sacred as any other integral part of industry."

250,000 'Air Wardens'
London, March 4 (AP)—British officials today announced that 250,000 "air wardens" would be trained to guard against the possibility of air raids, the House of Commons learned today from Geoffrey Lloyd, undersecretary for home affairs.

Mark Pearlmutter, Auctioneer, Auto Fumes Suicide

Lawrence, March 4.—Mark E. Pearlmutter, 56, well known Boston and Brookline auctioneer, was found dead today in his modestly furnished apartment, parked in a secluded section of Den. Book park near the Lawrence-Salem highway.

A note from a vacuum cleaner and a roll of surgeon's tape had been ingeniously fastened to the back of his head, according to Medical Examiner John J. Donohue.

The discovery was made by William Clary of Lynn street, who was taking a short cut across the park, a recently completed WPA project. Attracted by the length of green hose, taped to the exhaust and leading into the machine, Clary investigated to find Pearlmutter sprawled on the front seat.

Here's What Dems Eat at Mere $100 a Plate

Washington, March 4 (AP)—The feast of Democratic dinners from coast to coast will try tonight to eat the party out of the red.

State and national leaders hoped to attract national donors to gather up a $100,000 deficit at a single buffet.

If price is any tip-off on the quality of the victuals, the $100-a-plate spread at the capital makes the rest of the feast look like a ditch digger's snack.

Here is the menu for the banquet: Diamond-back Terrapin Soup, Crosse et Sohier Farm (pasteurized), Madeira Wine, Celery, Olives, Peas.

Striking British Crew Here Fired From Linaria

High A. Ford, British consul-general in Boston, today notified today the 22 striking crew members of the English freighter Linaria for refusing to assist in taking cargo of nitrate from Liverpool, Spain.

The British consul-general said that "you have only yourselves to blame." Ford told the crew members at his office in Ford's office, square that they were discharged from the ship effective at 1 p. m. today.

The Linaria, flag up at a Charleston, S. C. dock, because the object of international attention, when the crew refused to aid in its unloading of the nitrate which they charged would be used to manufacture munitions and used "for the bombing of women and children."

Before Attorney Sidney J. Grant, counsel for the crew, went into conference with the consul-general in an attempt to reach some agreement for the ship to deliver.

"You are guilty of neglect of duty and guilty of refusing orders of your master. You are guilty of violating the British maritime laws in refusing to follow orders."

You are all hereby discharged from the ship and will not be permitted to stay on the ship after 1 p. m. today.

After the conference with Grant, Ford announced that 12 members would be given transportation back to England on boats leaving here March 8 and 14 but that no disposition had been made for the three striking apprentices.

AS I SEE IT

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyright 1937, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International and all other rights reserved.)

A friend of mine, a New York night club owner, recently went touring South in a trailer that was without a toilet the last week in trailer.

It was a three-story trailer. It is said to have been the first three-story trailer ever constructed. The trailer builders had gone as far as two stories.

On the first floor of our friend's trailer was a living room, kitchen, bath room, and a small aviary for his canaries.

On the second floor were two bedrooms. The third floor was given over to a bar, a pocket pool table, and a little library.

On the roof was a small solarium, or sun room. On the rear end of the trailer was a dog kennel, large enough for three medium-sized dogs.

At the first trailer camp where our friend halted for the night, two other trailer enthusiasts who thought they had nice, complete trailers, went into the woods and committed suicide in sheer jealous rage.

Somewhere in South Carolina, our friend's three-story trailer tipped over as it was crossing a bridge over a stream, and if the trailer had not been equipped with life boats, the passengers would have been submerged.

4-Story Trailer

Our friend is back in New York, preparing to have built a four-story trailer, but this time he is going to personally see to it that the trailer is better balanced.

He says the accident to the three-story trailer was due to the fact that just as it hit the bridge a house guest, who was practicing pocket pool shots on the table on the third floor, knocked the S, 32 and 15 balls into the same corner pocket, and this unexpected weight all in one spot upset the balance of the trailer.

Our friend says that on his new trailer he will put the billiard room downstairs. Our friend asserts that the trailer is at present only in its infancy. He thinks the time is coming when trailers as tall as the Empire State Building will be traveling the roads of this country.

Tax Problem

We are half prepared to believe this statement. We have seen the trailer camps in Florida in the winter.

It is said that this winter there have been as many as 20,000 trailers in the state at one time, housing at least three times that number of persons.

The state of Florida is commencing to eye the trailer tribes in a speculative manner. It is speculating as to the possibility of getting a lot of tax income out of them. No doubt California and other states that draw the trailer trade are speculating along the same line.

The trailer tribes get the benefit of the highways, and of police protection. It seems only fair that they should pay a little something for these benefits.

Some of the trailer tourists perhaps pay taxes in the states in which they claim permanent residence.

Tax-Free Horde

However, in the past couple of years, many thousands of persons have cut losses from all permanent ties to go roaming the land in trailers. They lead a glad, free, gypsy life, and pay property taxes nowhere.

Indeed, one reason why many of the trailer tribesmen are on the loose in their motor-paced land barges is to escape that very thing—taxes. The lawmakers of the land, trying to figure out how the wanderers, have been unable to figure out whether the trailer should be taxed as a vehicle, or a habitation.

Of course, it is both, but it seems you can scarcely tax it as both. It must be taxed as a home, or as an automobile, and that is where the lawmakers are nonplussed.

It is said there are upward of 200,000 trailers in these United States, with the number increasing daily, and representing a $50,000,000 industry, so it is improbable that the trailer tribes will go on evading taxes.

You must not get the impression that the trailers are unwelcome in any state. At least they are not unwelcome in any state we ever heard of. The trailer tribes are mainly made up of persons who have a bit of income. You have to be something more than a pauper to own a trailer in the first place.

Good Spenders

When the tribes people come to a halt in any community they spend some money there. They buy groceries and gasoline. They visit the movie theaters. They are in general well-mannered, well-behaved. The trailer tribes are not to be confused with the impoverished drifters in vintage tin cans that you see doddering along the highways.

The trailer tribes are of such a class that if we had the time and money we would probably be getting out a periodical devoted solely to them. Figure an average of three persons to each of 200,000 trailers, and you have a big reading public right from now.

The states that understand the importance of the trailer trade are proceeding cautiously in the matter of taxation for fear of alarming the trailer tribes.

These states do not wish to scare the trailers away from their borders. On the contrary, they wish to encourage them to come on in and make themselves at home.

The trailer camps, properly conducted, are an asset to a community, though it is a surprise that eventually every state must appoint boards to supervise these camps, to see that the sanitary and other conditions are everything that they should be.

We will let you know when our friend has his four-story trailer ready. The last time we saw him, he was trying to figure out a way of installing a swimming pool, and landscaping effects.

Branded Aliens, Seek To Rejoin Son In Boston

Flat broke and stranded in Montreal because of immigration difficulties, a blind war veteran of Boston and his wife today appealed to President Roosevelt to disentangle red tape and send them back to their son waiting here.

The couple, Roy Tessier, 41, and his wife, Eva, 1115 Commonwealth avenue, left Boston September 8, 1936, on a 12-day trip to visit Tessier's father. They left Arthur, 36, at home.

Evie money was the foundation of the trip which served them comfortably and left enough to return in 10 days—until they collided with immigration authorities at Newport, Vt. Examiners there denied them entry on the ground they were aliens.

USE UP MONEY

Since September 17 they have been despatching the meagre residue of the bonus, at the same time frantically seeking assistance from United States immigration officials.

Just yesterday they were told that they must not get the impression that the trailers are unwelcome in any state. At least they are not unwelcome in any state we ever heard of. The trailer tribes are mainly made up of persons who have a bit of income. You have to be something more than a pauper to own a trailer in the first place.

It is said that this winter there have been as many as 20,000 trailers in the state at one time, housing at least three times that number of persons.

The state of Florida is commencing to eye the trailer tribes in a speculative manner. It is speculating as to the possibility of getting a lot of tax income out of them. No doubt California and other states that draw the trailer trade are speculating along the same line.

The trailer tribes get the benefit of the highways, and of police protection. It seems only fair that they should pay a little something for these benefits.

Some of the trailer tourists perhaps pay taxes in the states in which they claim permanent residence.

BRITAIN JUMPS ARMY COSTS

London, March 4 (AP)—Britain's "modernized and modernized" army told Parliament today its estimated expenditure for 1937 "in defense of empire and discharge of international obligations" would total $23,175,000 ($410,870,000), almost half again as much as for 1936.

With yesterday's 1937 naval estimate of $22,525,000, the total army and navy figures comprise the biggest armaments bill Great Britain ever has known in times of peace—$456,400,000. The air force estimates are still to come.

Alfred Duff Cooper, secretary of state for war, told the House of Commons $23,175,000 of the $131,465,000 increase over the 1936 expenditure would be raised by loans, leaving $115,600,000 as the official estimate for the budget.

Carole Lombard says: "Advised by my singing coach, I changed to Luckies"

"In my new picture 'Swing High, Swing Low' I sing a song for the first time since I have been on the screen. To do this, I spent months taking singing lessons. And with this added strain, my throat was not in good shape. My singing coach suggested that when choosing cigarettes, I select a light smoke. And so I changed to Luckies. Since then I've found that a light smoke and my throat get along together just fine."

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Lombard verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. FRANKFURTER VIEWS ON COURT SOUGHT

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, March 4.—Frank of President Roosevelt's proposal to enlarge the Supreme Court today proposed to invite Professor Felix Frankfurter, of Harvard, a prominent adviser to the administration on New Deal problems, to express his views on the judicial program at the Senate hearings next week.

Opposition leaders believe Frankfurter will oppose the plan to appoint six more justices if those now over 70 fail to retire. They drew this conclusion from expressions in several of Frankfurter's essays on legal questions. In one paper, Frankfurter was reported to have condemned in vigorous terms any move to influence Supreme Court decisions, except through amendment of a constitutional amendment to the people.

ROOSEVELT ON AIR

The opportunity will present the President to Frankfurter, since friends of the plan will ask him first. The hearings start Wednesday, with advocates of the plan presenting their case first.

President Roosevelt will take his business Court proposal directly to the people in a nationwide radio address tonight.

It will be his first public address on the subject since he sent his judicial reorganization measure to Congress February 5. Following a White House conference with legislative leaders, it was revealed that the President will touch on the court proposal in his 45th-anniversary dinner speech here.

MAY INVITE RICHBERG

The suggestion also is being made in New York, Supreme Court Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, former law partner of the President, and Donald T. Richberg, former National Recovery Administration chief, to the hearings if they are not asked by the administration.

Samuel Burke (D) of Nebraska, who led the committee would be "strongly interested" in the views of Frankfurter and would like to question Judge Rosenman and Richberg.

Jail Girl's Killer Dentist Claims 'Accident'

Trapped in Death by Auto

DR. RICHARD G. MILLER

SEIZED AS HE MENDS TEETH

Richmond, Va., March 4 (INS).—Dr. Richard G. Miller, middle-aged, bespectacled dentist of Charlottesville, confessed early today to the "accidental" chloroform killing of 18-year-old Cleo Sproule.

In a signed statement to police after hours of grilling, the slender, well-to-do practitioner admitted the girl had died while he was making an attempt to perform an illegal operation.

Speaking vehemently that he was responsible for the girl's condition, the middle-aged dentist declared the operation took place on lonely Stony Point road near Charlottesville, in a borrowed car.

DENTIST'S CONFESSION

"I know she was dead," he said in his confession. "But I felt that I could do nothing but wait on the roadside until dark. After it got dark, I drove to the patch of woods between the cemetery and the road."

"I put the body out on the ground, and she lay there for my underwear, which was found against the stone wall surrounding the cemetery. She had removed it herself in the car."

"I had nothing to do with her condition, but I agreed to perform the operation at her solicitation."

Denying discovery of her condition and having no one to turn to, the pretty high school girl asked him to perform the operation "as a favor," the dentist was quoted as saying.

The statement, given out after the girl's mother, Mrs. Wm. H. Miller, of Charlottesville, had been arrested, and the girl's body was found in a ditch near the road.

LYNCHING THREAT HEARD

Authorities denied they feared violence from a lynch mob, but before the train pulled out there were loud roars and threats.

"We ought to take him out and get it over with,"

Until the very last, Dr. Miller had insisted he knew nothing of the girl's death. But police had found the car in which the operation took place and found that it "reeked with chloroform."

They established that the car had been borrowed by Dr. Miller. After that it became a question of whether the girl's death in his own dental chair was an accident.

The chief witness against Dr. Miller is J. Hubert Carver, a tall, thin, middle-aged man, who told police he left his sedan to Dr. Miller on the evening of the girl's death.

Monday afternoon, Carver said, Dr. Miller borrowed his machine "for an hour." But it was not until 8 p. m. that the car was returned, the salesman declared, and the odor of chloroform was all but overwhelming.

DRAW NET CLOSE

Detectives discovered Cleo was seen in the dentist's office, and why for some dental work when she had been under treatment by Dr. Miller for months.

Police believe she kept the rendezvous with Dr. Miller for the tragic operation which had to end in her death.

Unsettled at controlling the anesthetic, the panicked dentist apparently administered an overdose.

Then, terrified by the fatal mishap, he drove the girl's body to a lonely spot where he buried the body, and he was arrested.

Before investigation reached a stupor, police last night when the dentist was arrested in Charlottesville on a formal charge of murder after being literally dragged out of his office.

Posed as Trooper To Fix Own Case

Flouting guilty to charges in connection with fixing a state police badge and trying to get a "free" drink of a spending complaint, Arthur M. Carter, 25, of Inglewood street, Quincy, was held in custody for arraignment to March 11 in Quincy court today.

According to Metropolitan police of the Blue Hills station, Carter showed the badge and asked that the charge against Arthur M. Carter, 25, of Inglewood street, Quincy, be dropped.

After talking with him at length, Sergeant Daniel McElroy discovered that Carter himself was the "trooper" whom he was "fixed."

The officer also found that the badge was the property of Corporal Norman S. Sweeney of the state police. He lost it two years ago.

Carter was charged with impersonating an officer and fixing himself with intent to obstruct due execution of law.

London, March 4 (INS).—Large supplies of war materials are being rushed to Spain by Germany and Italy to provide Rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco with adequate reserves before the non-intervention control scheme takes effect, according to charges received by British government quarters today.

In a dramatic race against time, ship loads of tanks, rifle machine guns, military planes, bombs and munitions are arriving almost daily at Cadix, Seville and other Spanish ports controlled by insurgents, according to the charges.

Twenty German tanks were loaded at Cadix within the past few days, it was said.

One of the latest shipments, according to the information, included 6,000 rifles which reached Spain by way of Italy. They were believed to be of either Italian or German manufacture.

President Heads South March 11

Washington, March 4 (AP)—White House officials said today President Roosevelt had decided to leave for Warm Springs, Ga., March 11, one day later than originally planned.

They added he would be away two weeks and possibly go direct to the Southern coast.

Mt. Holyoke Grads Press Head Fight

South Hadley, March 4 (AP)—The committee of 300 formed among Mt. Holyoke College students to oppose the signing of a new bill for various President Mary K. Woolley will present another statement to the college trustees tomorrow. It was issued today from Miss Carolyn D. Smith of Boston, one of the leaders of the group.

2 DIE, 200 FLEE IN EAST SIDE, N. Y., FIRE

New York, March 4 (AP)—Flames roared through two fire-story tenements in the burning Garfield section of New York's lower East side today, killing two men and leaving 200 others in peril, it was learned from fire fighters.

Flames billowed several miles northward from the scene of the fire.

Flames burst from the upper stories of the first building, at 327 Suffolk street. The fire gained with such rapidity that within two hours similar flames were seen from the second building, just down the street.

The fire was discovered by a girl returning from a party. Police ran through the building and drove 200 families into the streets.

Persons leaving the building were told to take their belongings and flee. Two families were trapped on the fire escape, but later rescued from the back of the building.

Flames roared almost unceasingly through the floor structure in all the roofs collapsed, and the walls bowed. Emergency hospital stations were set up in nearby streets to care for the injured, some seriously hurt.

SUGAR CONTROL BILL FOUGHT BY HAWAII

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Hawaiian sugar interests launched a fight today against the administration's sugar control bill, although discrimination against the island is in favor of domestic producers as well as Puerto Rico, the Philippines and Cuba.

Asserting that Hawaii is an integral part of the United States, Alexander C. Hodge, president of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters Association, declared that "we are entitled to common justice and legal treatment on a parity with the 48 states."

"Hawaii should be treated the same as the best Louisiana and Florida producers," he said.

"Our quotas should be placed on the same basis as those areas, and we should have a fixed minimum quota as do the producers in the various states."

THE BILL PROVIDES payments on sugar cane and sugar beet harvested after June 1, 1937. April, May and June are months harvesting months in Hawaii, and no payments will be paid for cane during those months, but the tax must be paid.

Other cane and beet areas in the country escape this injustice as their harvest comes after July 1, 1937.

"It is not conceivable that Americans will permit such legislation to any one section of our country."

"Another flagrant example is the fact that under the terms of this bill we are not permitted to send refined sugar to other parts of the United States. Instead, Oregon as a territory being told that its people could ship rough lumber but not finished lumber, or, similarly, Oklahomans that they could ship live steers but not dressed beef."

COMPARES QUOTAS

"This bill actually requires Hawaii to ship her sugar as raw sugar, with the exception of 3 per cent in refined form. Why?"

"As against this 3 per cent, Puerto Rico is permitted to ship 15 per cent of its quota to the United States as refined sugar, the Philippines 10 per cent, and Cuba, a foreign country, 22 per cent, or seven times the percentage allowed Hawaii. This inherent should not be asked to submit to unfair restrictions which would not be tolerated by any state."

Movie Auto Crash Kills Beauty as 200 Look On

MARCELLA ARNOLD

"Miss Los Angeles" of 1936

San Diego, Cal., March 4 (AP)—Marcella Arnold, "Miss Los Angeles" of 1936, was killed instantly in a movie automobile accident here last night.

Gordon Carrell, an stunt driver, and Leola Bush, third occupant of the car, were injured slightly.

Two hundred spectators, attracted to Graeco Park by the sight of movie lights, saw the car crash from the road and turn completely over, snapping Miss Arnold's neck.

The 28-year-old victim was a frequent customer in bathing beauty contests at Atlantic City in 1936.

Three police officers on duty keeping back the crowds and something apparently went wrong with the car's mechanism.

Miss Arnold, a brunette, was given a part in the film only yesterday.

DORGAN FIGHTS OATH LAW REPEAL

teacher's oath, but when they appeared at Tuesday's hearing in advocating repeal of the law.

Also assisted by Dorgan before a slim gathering of less than 200 were President James Bryant Conant of Harvard, President Karl Compton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Dr. Alfred C. Lane, who resigned from the Tufts College faculty to protest against the oath law.

Professor Lane, it was charged by Dorgan, father of the oath law, had written him a letter, offering to make a detailed tour with Dorgan throughout the state—the offer to take three-fourths of the money from admission charges.

Writing the letter he said was from the professor, Dorgan then read:

"I must confess I was glad to see you defeated for the nomination clerk of courts because I have felt that you did not treat me fairly."

"I have believed that you meant well and were merely in sympathy with Cardinal Hayes. New York in opposition to Communism in that I have with you, though I think that this law requires oath is like giving a dose of castor oil for appendicitis."

"I would be glad to earn some money debating the subject with you—winner to take three-fourths of the proceeds of an address for me."

Professor Lane, who was in the audience, admitted to regretting that he had written the letter to Dorgan.

"SPORTING" OFFER

"There is nothing to say about it," declared the professor. "I have to earn my living some way and I found what I thought was a fair sporting proposition."

With representatives of the American Legion, the National Foreign Wars and other patriotic and civic organizations listening, Dorgan replied verbally to the letter before the committee, declaring that he had reviewed thoroughly the Commonwealth's debating teachers' oath law, "but I have not read it."

"I feel," he said, "that anyone who waxes the hair for money is not a good patriot."

URNS TO HARVARD

Turning to President Conant's and President Compton's remarks before the committee on Tuesday, Dorgan replied:

"Who should Harvard pride see so far as to reject the Catholic church like this?"

"I am going to tell President Conant of Harvard—great American that he is—that if he paid some attention to the Communist organizations operating in Harvard he would prove himself a better American."

"And the same goes for President Compton of M. I. T."

WILL MATCH EFFORTS

"I would be willing to withdraw any opposition to the repeal if I knew that the professors and teachers have something equally good to offer, or could give some alternative that they would be willing to uphold the Constitution."

"They call me a fire-eater and a pseudo-patriot, but I will match my record against any of theirs for sincerity of purpose."

Dorgan also assailed Robert J. Wall, secretary-treasurer of the Massachusetts State Federation of Labor for Wall's opposition to the oath law.

DECISION DELAYED

The matter was taken under advisement.

Today's developments came in the wake of a lawsuit submitted by Police Commissioner Joseph P. Timiney to provide early closing of night clubs.

The bill was completed early this morning after a copy of memoranda and telegrams had gone over to many of the relative alleged violations of closing regulations by the named establishments.

Assuming that the governor's approval is obtained, the bill will be forced to come down completely at 1:30 a. m. on weekdays and at midnight on Saturdays and Sundays.

Included in the bill it is understood, are some of the better known places catering to a fashionable clientele as well as lesser spots.

EARLY CLOSING PLAN

The early closing plan as a means to prevent flagrant violations of the liquor laws charged by the governor in a Washington's Birthday message was submitted by Police Commissioner Timiney at a headquarters conference last week.

Attending the conference were ranking police officials and representatives of the governor's office, the Boston Evening Herald and the Commonwealth. The same group is to sit in today.

The police blotter, it is understood, based on information that they wanted in Boston prior to the Washington's Birthday "stand-up" ordered by the governor.

Dorgan Defends Oath Law

Thomas H. Dorgan, Boston, Mass.

"The law requiring teachers to take an oath of allegiance to the Constitution of the United States and the Commonwealth is here to stay," declares former Representative Thomas H. Dorgan, as he points to the statute book. Dorgan is leading the battle against repeal of the legislation.

21 IN GAMBLING RAID SEIZED

Worcester, March 4.—Breaking down the front and rear doors to the second floor of a Mechanics street clubhouse, police today arrested 21 men in gambling charges in 30 days.

Police said they had been watching the place for several days but decided to stage the raid today when they saw the many parked automobiles outside the building.

According to police, they found five card tables and a dice game in progress.

Irving H. "Sport" Cohen, 48, of South street, was charged with maintaining and promoting a gambling nuisance while the others 20 were charged with being present in a gambling nuisance.

Outlook IS STILL Bright

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW

Business conditions in New England area are most satisfactory according to current reviews. At the same time the outlook for continued improvement is bright.

Most mills and factories in this section still have a substantial volume of unfilled orders on hand books even though many have been closed since they have a good record.

With the months, exception of the textile industry, no major labor disputes are in the offing. And the winter will bring a good deal of repair work in the industry.

The average businessman in New England is not particularly optimistic about the future of the country. He is not particularly optimistic about the future of the country. He is not particularly optimistic about the future of the country.

Notwithstanding the assumption of the forward movement in the market, the outlook for the future is not particularly optimistic. The outlook for the future is not particularly optimistic.

In the past few months, the outlook for the future is not particularly optimistic. The outlook for the future is not particularly optimistic.

Businessmen in New England are not particularly optimistic about the future of the country. The outlook for the future is not particularly optimistic.
